Wine-producing farm for sale in Rome

DESCRIPTION
This magnificent farmstead for sale is in the Roman countryside, close to the Capital's historical centre but also surrounded by the untouched nature of the Monti Tiburtini.
This property has 32 hectares of grounds, 6 hectares of which features vineyards while the rest is olive groves; it measures 4,000 m\(^2\) overall and is composed of a completely-renovated main villa, and some other buildings home to a tourist accommodation facility.
This complex stands on the original structures of an ancient Roman villa, some of whose refined architectural elements can still be seen, and a 17th-century convent, including its still-standing bell gable.
The property features thirteen apartments overall: the main villa has two floors and a very special cellar in the basement used for storing and aging wine. Just beside this estate there is an old olive oil mill, which currently needs to be restored.
The rooms overlooking the central farmyard, which is equipped with an old millstone, are used for producing wine and oil. This farmstead, in fact, currently produces some excellent organic wine and olive oil. This property also has a small consecrated church.
In the past, this estate was the summer home of some members of an important European royal family, thanks to its intimate, panoramic setting which is also conveniently close to the city.
